We are located in Harrisburg because...

In 1987, K&L Gates opened its Harrisburg office, both to strengthen its state regulatory practice and to expand its general practice in a steadily growing area of Pennsylvania. The practice has extended beyond the originally conceived scope to include contributions to the firm's national practice. The Harrisburg office also provides their clients with access to legal services around the world through their integrated offices in Europe, Asia, South America, the Middle East and Australia. Their global platform enables them to deliver high quality legal services across all practice areas for their clients interested in or currently doing business around the world.
