

WTC Member Spotlight

Philadelphia Regional Port Authority

Profile...

The Philadelphia Regional Port Authority (PRPA) the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania's International Seaport, is the premier choice for Central Pennsylvania shippers. We know the needs of PA shippers, and help them connect to global markets. Major central PA industrial manufacturers, food companies, and distributors ship via Port Philadelphia. We have service from 3 of the top 5 container lines in the world. On dock rail, modern intermodal yards, and close access to major highways make the Port of Philadelphia the preferred gateway to global markets. We offer better productivity, less congestion, and fewer delays than other US Northeast ports.

We are WTC Members Because...

The WTC is the best way to reach small and mid-sized international shippers in Central PA. We share the same goal of helping Central PA companies, "go global," and expand globally. While other ports may be closer for some WTC members, and some ports bigger, none are better at helping them get to foreign markets.

Year Joined: 1997

Location: Philadelphia, PA

Founded: Port established by William Penn in 1683 (Authority created in 1989)

Key Contacts:

Sean Mahoney, Dir. of Marketing

Dominic O'Brien, Senior Markt. Rep.

Frank Camp, Marketing Rep.

www.philaport.com

Global Clients:

PRPA serves shippers and steamship lines from around the world. We help Central PA companies export to every continent, and source critical components and raw materials from countries throughout the world.

Services:

Supply chain advice, contacts, network of overseas representatives, Foreign Trade Zone Program

www.wtccentralpa.org